REMARKABLE SURGICAL OPERATION

Tumor Taken From the Sheath Around the Spinal Cord. The New York Herald of today says: Bache McEvers Schmidt of No. 54 East 75th street, a well-known young broker, is at St. Luke's Hospital recovering from a difficult and dangerous operation performed on Monday by Dr. Robert Abbe. The operation, which was for what is known as chronic cervical pachymeingitis, was apparently remarkably successful, and it is hoped Mr. Schmidt, when he recovers, will have perfect use of his limbs, which have been paralyzed.

The trouble which made the operation been paralyzed.

The trouble which made the operation necessary came on gradually as the result of a fall sustained in the summer of 1897. In the fall Mr. Schimdt struck the back of his neck, but did not think much of the matter at the time. While staying at the Ardsley Casino a short time later, however, he complained of pain in his neck and shoulders.

When a physician was called he treated Mr. Schmidt for muscular rheumatism, but the treatment gave little benefit to the patient. On the advice of friends Mr. Schmidt called several German physicians, who, after consultation, decided that he was suffering from myelitis, or inflammation of the covering of the spinal cord.

He was treated for this and placed in plaster of paris jackets. This treatment was a failure also, and as the disease continued to progress Mr. Schimdt gradually lost the use of his legs. Other physicians, many of them well known, falled to relieve him, though several of them declared the spine was affected.

One doctor, from Philadelphia, disagreed with the others about the spine being affected, and wrapped the patient in medicated tissue to improve the circulation of the blood, he said. This, like other treatments, was useless, and the paralysis finally extended into Mr. Schmidt's arms and shoulders.

He was then entirely helpless, and his limbs were drawn up so rigidly that they could not be moved. When Drs. Abbe, Da-

Shoulders.

He was then entirely helpless, and his limbs were drawn up so rigidly that they could not be moved. When Drs. Abbe, Dana and E. P. Fowler were finally consulted, a short time ago, they decided that an operation on the spinal cord was the only chance of saving the patient's life.

The patient was taken to St. Luke's Hospital and prepared for the operation. After the anaesthetic had been administered. Dr. Abbe laid bare the spinal cord near the neck. A vertical incision was then made in the sheath covering the spinal cord.

As the surgeons had expected, a tumor, the result of inflammatory products, was found inside the sheath. This tumor, about two inches long, had evidently caused all the trouble. After it had been removed the wound was carefully stitched up. The operation lasted more than two and a half hours.

In cases similar to that of Mr. Schmidt a operation lasted more than two and a half hours.

In cases similar to that of Mr. Schmidt a great deal depends upon the fact whether or not any serious inflammation follows the operation, or, in fact, whether or not the spinal cord may be past repair. Everything, however, will be done to prevent the former conaition by keeping the patient's spine immovable and protecting the wound against any irritation or infection.
